

The Flintstones

(Universal, 1994)

Towards the beginning, Wilma says they need a new garbage disposal. Fred goes to look at it and sticks his hand down the creature's throat. The noises here could be triggering. Then he gets up and dries off his hands and tells the creature to "spit it out" and the noise here could be triggering too.

Later, after Fred and Barney take the aptitude test, we see Cliff playing golf. The creature that the ball goes into and out of makes noises that could be triggering.
